After completing his training as an industrial management assistant at Siemens AG (apprenticeship at the company's head office), Armin Preussler went on to study law in Berlin and Heidelberg. After finishing his legal traineeship in the Federal state of Rhineland-Palatinate, he was admitted to the Bar in Halle (Saale) as a lawyer in 1994. Ever since embarking upon his professional career, he has almost exclusively devoted himself to private construction law matters. Since 2000, he has also been handling procurement law topics.

Armin Preussler built up the construction law unit at a cross-regional law firm located in central Germany, became partner and then took over the management of the firm's Berlin office in mid-2002. In September 2006, he moved on to join Leinemann Partner Rechtsanwälte in Berlin.

Armin Preussler advises and represents contractors and contracting parties, architects and engineers in all construction law-related questions and procedures, including proceedings before the civil and arbitration courts. He actively supports bidders and contracting parties during the award and review procedure. On behalf of public contracting entities, he conceptualizes the award procedures for the procurement of supplies and services - which also includes architectural and engineering services - and manages the tasks normally handled by the awarding office upon request. The Handelsblatt has recognized Armin Preussler as one of the best lawyers in Germany in the field of "Construction Law" and "Public Law" in 2025. In 2026 he was again recognized in "Public Law".

Armin Preussler also works as a speaker and specialist author in construction and public procurement law, including for Arber-Seminare and Verlag Dashöfer. In addition to seminars for practitioners (including in-house training courses), he lectures in specialist lawyer courses on public procurement law. He is a member of the Berlin Bar Association, a specialist lawyer for construction and architectural law and a specialist lawyer for public procurement law.
