Bastian Haverland studied law in Göttingen and Hamburg . After training at the Institut für Anwalts- und Notarrecht [institute of law for lawyers and notaries] for a period of several months, he went on to complete his legal traineeship with stops in Lüneburg, Celle and Bielefeld.

Bastian Haverland started his professional career at a medium-sized law firm specialized on private construction and procurement law. Here he supervised several public private partnerships (PPP) in the North German region - providing assistance with procurement law questions and the preparation of profitability comparisons. His legal activities are focused on providing legal advice during construction projects and procurement proceedings in the construction (VOB [German Construction Contract Procedures]) and services area, the healthcare sector, IT procurement projects, transport services, school transport, social services, engineering and planning services (VOL [procurement and contract procedures for supplies and services] and VgV [Regulation on the Award of Public Contracts]) as well as contract design, conducting procurement review proceedings before the awarding authorities and courts throughout Germany as well as conducting litigation cases before the state courts.

In addition, Bastian Haverland regularly publishes contributions in construction and procurement journals (“Immobilien und Baurecht - IBR” [real estate and construction law magazine] and “VergabeNavigator” [procurement navigator journal]) and collaborates on the “Neues zum Baurecht” [latest construction news] information service published by Leinemann Partner Rechtsanwälte. He is also co-author of the publication “Die Vergabe öffentlicher Aufträge” [the award of public contracts]. Bastian Haverland is regularly recognized by Handelsblatt/Best Lawyers as one of Germany’s leading lawyers in the fields of Construction Law, Public Commercial Law, Public-Private Partnerships (PPP), and Real Estate Law. In 2027, Bastian Haverland is named “Lawyer of the Year” in the field of Public Law in the Best Lawyers/Handelsblatt ranking and is recognized by WirtschaftsWoche as a “TOP Lawyer” in Public Procurement Law. He is also listed among the recommended lawyers for Public Procurement Law in the 2025 edition of Legal 500. At the 2nd Hospital Procurement Congress in 2010, Bastian Haverland spoke on the topic of the consequences of the latest procurement legislation on procurement practice. He supports contracting parties and contractors during the award procedure for services and supplies - both in the healthcare and IT sectors.
