Shushanik Röcker studied law at the Free University of Berlin. Parallel to degree studies, she worked as an energy law specialist in the German parliament. She has had legal posts at an international law firm, at the German Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Energy, and at a major German law firm specialising in construction and real estate law. Prior to studying law, she acquired a degree in English from the Linguistic University Yerevan.

Shushanik Röcker has been working at Leinemann Partner Rechtsanwälte since April 2016. Shushanik Röcker primarily advises on and conducts law suits in real estate law, as well as in private construction law for German and international clients - she is fluent in German, English, Russian and Armenian. Her work covers the areas of the real estate industry including transactions, performing due diligence reports, as well as civil engineering and other large scale construction projects.
